PHOTOGRAPHY COMPETITION 2009

We are looking for photos that give your view on what harm, crime and injustice mean in the categories of ENVIRONMENT, FINANCE and VIOLENCE. People who may have been directly affected by these issues are especially invited to enter and share their experiences.

Entries will be judged by an expert panel including award-winning film maker Ken Loach and an exhibition of selected images will be held at 198 Contemporary Arts and Learning in Summer 2009. Prizes include a day on the photography desk at The Independent.

This competition is open to all. The closing date for entry is 31st March 2009. Visit www.whatiscrime.org.uk to submit your images (online only) and find out more about the judges, exhibition and prizes.
