

Narrow, but realistic experience range of everyday life.

"Civic Skills" are the main theme of the series.

Inclusion of 3R subjects: telling the time, money sums etc.

No building up or grading of books. Designed to give maximum practice on one reading level.

Can be used individually, or for group reading.

Comprehension questions

Can easily be used by people not trained as teachers.

NOT Educational Supplementary readers. They do not arouse "school-resentment" so often found in the inadequate person.

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

DR. JAMES B. McWHINNIE is consultant in Forensic Psychiatry in the Department of Psychological Medicine at the Southern General Hospital, Glasgow, and consultant psychiatrist at Borstal institutions for the Scottish Home and Health Department and at Approved Schools in the West of Scotland.

DR. JOHN BARRON MAYS is Senior Research Lecturer in the Department of Social Science, Liverpool University. Before going into academic work he had many years' experience as schoolmaster, youth club leader and settlement warden. In his present post he has special responsibility for teaching and research in the fields of criminology and community studies. He is the author of several well-known books, including Growing Up in the City (1954), On the Threshold of Delinquency (1959), and Education and the Urban Child (1962). All three volumes were published by the University Press of Liverpool.

DAN ROBERTSON joined the Prison Service in 1947, and is at present serving as a Principal Officer at H.M. Prison, Barlinnie, Glasgow.

He was granted two years leave of absence 1960/62 to read social science subjects at Ruskin College, Oxford, and read Criminology as a special subject under Dr. Nigel Walker, Reader of Criminology, Oxford University.

KATHLEEN J. SMITH joined the Prison Service as an Officer at Birmingham in 1956, and the following year became Assistant Governor at H.M.P. Holloway, from which post she resigned in 1960 because she "hoped to be able to do something towards prison reform outside the Service, while enjoying the privilege of country life, and the rigours of making a living as a small-holder."

DOUGLAS GIBSON, at present Deputy Director of the Central After-Care Association on secondment from the Prison Department, joined the Prison Service as Assistant Governor at The Verne in 1961 and served at Leyhill and Wakefield. He was Deputy Governor at Camp Hill until 1962 when he joined C.A.C.A. He is the founder of the Circle Trust, a club for lonely discharged offenders in the London area.

R. COOPER has been an assistant governor at Wandsworth since completing the 19th Staff Course.

H. C. GUNZBURG, M.A., Ph.D., F.B.P.S.S., Director of Psychological Services at Monyhull Hospital, Birmingham, is the author of Social Rehabilitation of the Subnormal (Baillière, Tindall and Cox) which deals with the practical issues of educational and therapeutic work with dull and intellectually subnormal youth, the majority of whom have become delinquent.
