

What is the community vision for the Holloway prison site?

- Find out what the community have said
- Join the discussion: have your say
- What do you want to see on the site?

The Ministry of Justice, who own the site, will announce their preferred bidder in the next few months.

Have your say!

Over 900 people and organisations from Islington replied to the Community Plan for Holloway survey.

Some very clear ideas emerged about what the people of Islington do and do not want to see on the prison site.

The Community Plan for Holloway will present the most popular ideas in a 'vision' statement at this meeting. There will be a few short introductions, followed by lots of time for everyone to discuss the 'vision' and how to make sure what the community wants is heard loud and clear when planning decisions are made.

The event is open to anyone who is concerned about the future of the former prison site.

'The council's objectives for the site, informed by the biggest ever response from the public they've ever had for a site of this kind, showed striking similarities to those in the Community Plan vision. If we all stand together we might get a better outcome than anyone could have imagined...'
