

News from the Centre for Crime and Justice Studies

The Open
University

Announcement: the Centre has teamed up with the Open University

We are pleased to announce that the Centre has become a formal partner of the International Centre for Comparative Criminological Research (ICCCR) which is based in the Faculty of Social Sciences at the Open University. ICCCR is a unique multi disciplinary and cross faculty initiative drawing on expertise from Social Sciences and Health and Social Care; and from the affiliated International Centre for the History of crime, policing and justice, based in the Faculty of Arts. For more details about the ICCCR and the friends that we will be collaborating with please visit: www.open.ac.uk/icccr

Annual Event

On January 20, the Centre held its Annual Event: Utopia or Dystopia? Living in hope not fear. Professor Vincenzo Ruggiero, Baroness Vivien Stern, Professor Rod Morgan and Professor David Nutt each vividly expressed their hopes and fears for the future. The event was well attended and the audience responded with comments and questions for the panel. An enjoyable evening was had by all!

LIKE US? THEN SUPPORT US!

You can support our work by signing up for our free monthly e-bulletin, attending our events, using our publications, and all importantly – telling us what you think! If you want to take it one step further, then please consider joining the Centre as a member. From £25 per year you can receive Criminal Justice Matters as well as receiving access to additional resources and benefits. While we enjoy your moral support, a bit financial help never goes amiss!

HOME SWEET HOME

The Centre for Crime and Justice Studies has relocated to new offices at 2 Langley Lane, London, SW8 1GB.

www.crimeandjustice.org.uk

Photographs courtesy of Melinda Kerrison and Ed Brenton